

NCAAW

National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week

NCAAW is a collaborative initiative between Student Health and Counseling Services (SHCS) and the Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP)

Monday	November 2	Real Talk with Gini and Willie 6:30 - 8:00 p.m. White Hall Room 207 Light refreshments will be served. So, if I mix Red Bull and vodka, won't they cancel each other out? Join Emory's go-to experts on college drinking, Willie Bannister, LPC and Virginia Plummer, LCSW, as they answer student submitted questions about alcohol use at Emory in an informal setting. They'll discuss issues that translate research into practical steps to maximize your social life on campus, with or without alcohol, and minimize the risk of negative outcomes. No BS! No spin! Just real talk with Gini and Willie! Submit your anonymous questions at http://tinyurl.com/alcoholquestions by Thursday, October 29. Anonymous questions will also be collected during the event.
Wednesday	November 4	Be Healthy! Meet and Greet 11:30 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. Asbury Circle at Wonderful Wednesday Stop by to play Meet & Greet Bingo and enjoy snacks, music, prizes and fun along Asbury Circle while meeting the friendly folks from Student Health and Counseling Services and the Faculty Staff Assistance Program. Open to all Emory faculty, staff and students!
Thursday	November 5	Translating Concern into Action: Helping Someone You Care About with an Alcohol Problem 12:00 - 1:30 p.m. Center for Ethics Room 162 Do you want to understand why some people can control their drinking and others struggle? Are you concerned that someone you care about may have a drinking problem? In this interactive Lunch and Learn workshop for faculty and staff, participants will identify and practice ways to intervene effectively and compassionately with a friend, co-worker, or a family member who exhibits signs of problematic drinking. Space is limited, so call FSAP at 404-727-4328 or e-mail efsap@emory.edu by Tuesday, November 3 to reserve your space and a free lunch!
Thursday	November 5	Alcohol Trivia Night 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. Few Multipurpose Room Come on Down! It's Trivia Night at Emory!
